From high-profile design commissions to exciting listings, there is always something new happening in the world of real estate. In this roundup, AD PRO has everything you need to know.

Milestones

Cipriani plans first ground-up residences

Miami's Brickell neighborhood has been good to Cipriani: After opening a restaurant in 2013 and the Socialista lounge in 2019, the financial district will be home to the company's first-ever ground-up residence in the U.S.

Developed in partnership with Mast Capital, the Arquitectonica-designed Cipriani Residences Miami will soar 80 stories, offer residents floor-to-ceiling glass windows with unfettered views of Biscayne Bay and Simpson Park.

And, of course, residents will have exclusive access to Cipriani's classic Italian cuisine, available in-home, at private dining rooms, or on the building's resort deck.

"Miami has evolved tremendously, attracting culture, business, and entertainment, and guarantees an enviable quality of life," third-generation Cipriani CEO Giuseppe Cipriani told Forbes. "It is becoming a first or second residence for an increasing number of demanding and traveled individuals and families."

Construction is expected to be completed at the end of 2025.
